Hayes Rebukes Administration In Address At Arlington Cemetery

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. Short but impressive services were held at the tomb of the unknown soldier today, with President and Mrs. Roosevelt participating.

As the presidential party approached the tomb the army band played the national anthem. The president stood before the tomb with bare head for two minutes. An army sergeant then stepped forward and handed Col. E. M. Watson, military aide, a large wreath of white chrysanthemums, who placed them on the tomb in the name of the president.

Mrs. Roosevelt then stood before the tomb and placed a bunch of pink chrysanthemums on it. Taps were blown, and as the presidential party left, a salute of 21 guns was fired at Fort Myer, adjoining Arlington National cemetery.

Mrs. Curtis Dall, the president's daughter, and his naval aide, Capt. Walter Vernou, were also present.

Bail Is Fixed For Lieut. Murrell

(International News Service)
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 11.—Lieut. John H. Murrell of the U. S. Army, one-time nationally known football star who was charged with criminal assault on Miss Blanche Ralls, was admitted to the nominal bail of $5,000 today by Federal Judge Robert J. McMillan.

Judge McMillan fixed the comparatively low bail bond after the doctor who examined Miss Ralls testified that she showed no considerable signs of the terrific 45-minute struggle she claimed to have had with Murrell prior to the alleged attack.

Defense attorneys said they hoped to make the bond by noon.

PA NEWS OBSERVES

There will be plenty of Turkeys for Thanksgiving according to several local butchers who have already placed orders for the holiday.

City firemen and residents living in the vicinity of Central station, reported sighting a small flock of plovers on an island below the site of the Roseana Dam in Neshannock Creek, Friday afternoon. The birds had evidently been forced to seek shelter because of the weather and found the island an ideal spot. It was covered with thick grass and weeds. The birds spent several hours at the spot feeding. According to Fire Chief Stockman who is quite a hunter, it was the first plover he had seen around this district in ten years.

Quiet Observance Of Armistice Day Throughout Europe

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Nov. 11.—While the rest of Europe paused today in solemn mourning for the lives it gave in the great war, Germany prepared to give formal approval to Chancellor Hitler's protests against the "injustice" of the post-war treaties and of Germany's position in today's world.

Germany will go to the polls tomorrow in a unique election to vote for a new, 100-per cent nationalistic Reichstag, and to vote "yes" or "no" on approval of the Nazi government's sudden withdrawal from the league of nations and the world disarmament conference.

Food Advisory Board Resigns

Entire Committee Ired By Slowness Of Agricultural Group, Quits In Body

(Copyright, 1933, By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Ired by the slowness with which the AAA is acting on codes of fair competition for the various groups of the food industry, and unable to agree among themselves, the entire Food Advisory Committee of the AAA has resigned in a body, International News Service learned today.

The committee was organized last June after the passage of the National Recovery Act and included the leaders of the major food manufacturing and distributing industries. Their resignations mark the largest defection there has been to date in the recovery ranks.

Members of the committee who were questioned declared the resignations were primarily due to pulling at cross purposes between the AAA and the NRA, and the fact that up to date the AAA has not approved a single code for the food industry. Approximately 500 codes have been submitted, but members of the advisory committee said all these seemingly are tied up in departmental red tape.

Annual Sale of Perry S. Gaston Post Being Conducted Here Today

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS SELLING EMBLEMS

More than a hundred high school girls are on the streets today selling replicas of the Flanders poppies, which were immortalized in stories and songs of the late World War.

These are being sold for the benefit of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion to help defray expenses for relief, etc.

The girls were out early this morning, and will continue at the task until early this evening. They were met by a ready response for almost everyone on the street this morning was wearing one of the floral emblems.

In addition to selling poppies on the streets of the business district groups of the girls will visit the homes of the city during the day.

OIL CITY YOUTH IS WOUNDED IN HUNTING MISHAP

(International News Service)
OIL CITY, Pa., Nov. 11.—This section of Western Pennsylvania recorded its first hunting accident of the season today with the wounding of William B. Biery, 17, Oil City High school senior.

Biery, it was reported, slipped and fell, discharging his small bore shotgun. The shot struck his right leg just above the knee. Aid was summoned from a nearby farmhouse by the victim's stepfather and the youth was brought to the hospital here.

Millersburg Man Dies In His Auto

Two Additional Members Of Alleged Gang Are Also Arrested

Walter Rausch, for whom police have been searching since he escaped from a Sampson St. house following a fire at the Harbor and discovery of alleged stolen loot at the Sampson St. home was apprehended Thursday by State Trooper Hennebeck at Glassport and is now held at Butler barracks of the State Police, Troop D.

In connection with the alleged robbery, Sergeant Price of the same troop captured a man named "McNair" at Erie. He also is held at Butler barracks. According to State Trooper Hughmanick and Constable Fallon of this city more than a score of other alleged members of the gang have been staged not only here but in other western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio towns.

Fire Gives Clue
The goods were cached at the home occupied by Walter Rausch and George Zalick at the Harbor. A fire started and the home was destroyed. However, approximately $5,000 worth of the alleged stolen articles were removed during the fire.

LEST WE FORGET

By EDWARD A. HAYES
National Commander, The American Legion
(Written Expressly for International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 11.—Fifteen years ago today, Nov. 11, 1918, victory was won for the Allied forces. The turning point toward world peace was reached. Armistice Day marked the cessation of wholesale destruction and bloodshed. The reconstruction era began immediately, both for war-torn France and for the human wrecks of the war.

The American Legion was created by the fighting forces overseas with the avowed purpose of supporting through organized efforts the high ideals of patriotic fervor that characterized the American fighting man in the service. It sought no reward for sacrifices and suffering. It did seek and was determined to attain justice in the care and protection of the men and women who were disabled in the service. No one questioned the fairness of that pledge then, and no real American questions it now.

Then came the act of Congress passed in a frenzy last spring, wiping out virtually the entire structure of legislation that had been erected through years of hard experience and study. Nobody wanted any money taken away from the man disabled in the service of his country. At least that is what they said to us and it is what people, who tried to talk about it last year, told Congress.

But they did take a great deal of money away from the boys who actually bore the grime of battle, and from the boys with the chalk-like look that comes because the lungs are not properly functioning, and from the boys whose minds are gone. Those are the fellows who are feeling the slash that occurred last spring. They were slapped in the face with that act, and many of them put out in the street.

It is appropriate on this day which we celebrate, because we could not have an Armistice Day if it were not for the deeds of heroism of our dead and of our disabled, for every citizen to consider this truth: In one state the review boards considering so-called presumptive cases are retaining 97 per cent on the rolls, whereas in another state the review boards, under the same set of regulations, are retaining only 16 per cent. There is something wrong with that.

Then there is another situation that needs correcting, and can be properly considered on this anniversary of victory: The government is setting up machinery to spend money out of one fund to take care of the indigent, among whom are thousands of disabled veterans who were evicted from hospital beds; while at the same time thousands of hospital beds remain empty, although the overhead of heat and maintenance continues about the same as before. It certainly would cost no more for food in the hospital than it will in the indigent's camps or houses that will be provided under a different fund.

As we thought together in the World War, as we pulled together for victory, so let all our people now think together on this problem. Let us act together toward a common end for justice which all agree is due the veteran disabled in the service of his country; which all must agree is due the dependent widow and orphans of the man who gave his life in the service of his country.

Let us make Armistice Day next year a day of Victory for the truly war disabled man and his dependents.

Former Pupils Honor Former Writing Teacher Prof. J. L. Moser, Friday

GIVEN TRIBUTE

They disproved an old axiom in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school Friday night, the one about a "prophet without honor in his own country." The meeting proved conclusively that a man could be honored in his own city, when Prof. J. L. Moser, for 50 years a writing teacher in the public schools here, and his wife, were given a public reception in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school.

It was an unique occasion, one seldom seen here. Here was a gentleman who had given more than a half century of his life to the instruction of youth being honored by business and professional men who had sat under his tutelage back in the 19th century. For a number of years Prof. Moser has not been connected with the schools but has been an attaché of the Lawrence county courts. For warmth of feeling and sincerity of purpose one might have imagined that the honor guest was a visiting potentate.

Orchestra Concert.
Prior to the formal meeting, there was an informal reception in the lobby where old friends met old friends, while inside the Benjamin Franklin orchestra presented a concert of music directed by John E. Paton. This lasted for about 20 minutes. The curtain went back, revealing the guests of honor and the committee in charge, seated on the platform. Here were Charles H. Andrews, the chairman, members of the various school alumni associations, speakers, and members of the school board.

Mr. Andrews opened the meeting briefly explaining that many former students of Prof. Moser had wanted to honor him for some time and had chosen this method of so doing. He then called on the first speaker of the evening, Attorney Richard F. Dana, who spoke on "Moser the Pioneer." In his address Mr. Dana sketched the early days of the New Castle school and lauded Prof. Moser for the part he had played in the development of the schools.

Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand followed, speaking on "Moser the Man." He also paid tribute to the work of Prof. Moser and reminisced a little on the days when he (the judge) was in school. Described as being a product of the East Side, Judge Hildebrand retorted that he had spent the first 17 years of his life on the South Side.

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the New Castle schools, spoke on "After Influences." In his address he explained that Prof. Moser had retired from the school system before he had come to New Castle, but that he knew from association with the older teachers of the schools, that Prof. Moser's work had made its impress on the life of the schools here.

Observance Of Armistice Anniversary Concludes Tonight At Cathedral

In spite of adverse weather conditions, the big Tri-County Armistice Day celebration got under way this morning with the annual parade a feature. Thousands of people lined the streets over which the marchers paraded, and cheered the veterans of the World war as they filtered past.

The parade formed at North Jefferson and Falls streets, at the Legion Home, from whence it wended its way down Jefferson to the Diamond, east on Washington street to the old East Side depot of the Pennsylvania R. R., thence through the railroad yards to Grove and Mill, down Mill street to Long avenue, over Long and up Moravia and Jefferson streets to the starting point.

Military Leads Parade
With a detachment of members of Troop D., State Constabulary and local police breaking the way for the parade, the first division marched past. It contained the members of Company D, 112th Infantry; Medical Detachment, 112th Infantry of Butler; Second Battalion Headquarters Battery, 107th Field Artillery, Ellwood City, and Troop F., 103rd Cavalry, New Castle, all of the Pennsylvania National Guard. Ahead of them rode Chief Marshal, Col. Dan H. McQuiston, with Major W. F. Jackson, chief of staff; Lieut. John D. Kennedy, adjutant; and Louis B. Round, Col. H. D. McCluskey, Lt. Col. Lewis E. Burnside, and Major Clarence E. Imbrie on the staff.

Italy Likely To Quit League

(International News Service)
GENEVA, Nov. 11.—Eventual Italian withdrawal from the League of Nations was feared in well informed circles here today as Italy announced recall of her official delegation to the world disarmament conference. Announcing the Italians in the future would be merely "technical observers" an Italian spokesman declared it would be "ludicrous" to continue formal disarmament discussions with Germany absent.

"It is futile for us to remain in the conference while all countries are mis-represented" the spokesman added.

Bugles blaring and rolling drums and the patter of rough shod feet, arms and sabers and bayonets moving along the street. Hoarse commands as they file along, those soldiers of "Seventeen" but there's some of them missing who should be there, they're present but can't be seen. They file along in their ghostly squads, crusaders who never die, and once a year they come back again from the Tanders spot where they lie. Back again to the scenes they loved and the land who escaped the wrath and all unseen they go marching along, though no footsteps resound from their path. They'll never die though the ages pass, though they long since have gone before, that Deathless Army that sleeps in peace, the weather is thirty four.

INVOKE MARTIAL LAW IN AUSTRIA

Demonstrations To Be Suppressed

Death Penalty For Political Offenders To Be Invoked

PUBLIC MEETINGS HAVE BEEN BANNED

(International News Service)
VIENNA, Nov. 11.—Invoking martial law throughout Austria in order to apply the death penalty for political offenders, the government today prepared to suppress with an iron hand Nazi and Socialist demonstrations which had been planned for tomorrow in connection with the 15th anniversary of the republic.

Martial law was decreed in haste answer to Socialists who held 400 mass meetings throughout the country yesterday after the government had forbidden political demonstrations.

All police and military garrisons were mobilized to enforce the extreme rule. All public political meetings have been banned, and early masses on Sunday will be the only gatherings permitted.

Serious Clash.
VIENNA, Nov. 11.—Despite proclamation of martial law throughout Austria, a serious clash occurred today at Bregenz near the Bavarian border, in which one Heimwehr trooper was shot and killed and another was gravely wounded.

The attacking parties, believed to be Nazis, escaped, whereupon the entire Bavarian frontier was ordered closed, and all border guards were reinforced.

Bloodhounds were set on the trail of the murderers, who, under the terms of the martial rule, will face execution within three days after their conviction.

Charles E. McGrath then presented Mrs. Moser with a gorgeous bouquet of chrysanthemums which were on the stage and was followed by Fred L. Rentz. Mr. Rentz spoke briefly and dwelt upon the work of Prof. Moser. He spoke feelingly of the influence played by such teachers and then presented him with the "Treasure Chest." This was a chest made of wood from the old Martin Gantz school and contained letters, cards, contributions and other things. It was not opened, Mr. Rentz cautioning Prof. Moser to "open it only when he and his good wife were present."

Prof. Moser was the last speaker, and while he is close to 80, his voice was strong and clear and his memory remarkable. He told the audience that he had been born in New

Here he helped run a ferry across to Wampum, worked in the coal mines, in the limestone quarries, in a blacksmith shop and finally attended North Sewickley academy. Anxious to get more education he went to the Iron City college in Pittsburgh where he wanted to study to be a bookkeeper.

After he graduated he secured a teaching position in a school located on the top floor of the Clendenin building.

Becomes Writing Teacher.

The daughter of the proprietor was to be married and Mr. Moser was asked to write the invitations. They received so much attention from the guests that he was asked to apply for a position as writing teacher in the New Castle schools, which he did, and was accepted. The superintendent was Martin Gantz, who was not so sure that this young fellow was a good teacher. For half an hour Prof. Moser reminisced over his early experiences and expressed his appreciation of the honor shown him and his wife. Mayor Mayne then read a letter from T. S. McAnlis, who was acting principal of the Martin Gantz school at the time Prof. Moser entered the local school system.

This closed the formal part of the program and the guests were invited to come up to the platform and shake hands with the honor guests. The platform reception lasted for some little time. The guests were one that Prof. and Mrs. Moser are not likely to forget and was a gracious gesture upon the part of the men and women of affairs in New Castle to a beloved teacher.

Assisting the committee in receiving the guests were the following teachers and former teachers who were associated with Prof. Moser in the New Castle schools: Miss Mary Aiken, Miss Anna R. Investigation and discovered stolen loot. When Fallon went to summon a patrol car Zalick said to have fired a revolver twice at Hughmanick. Rausch and Zalick escaped. The latter went to Newport, Ky. and was apprehended by Newport, Ky. police. He was returned here last night. Rausch went to Glassport. He was taken into custody there.

Not much is known here about the man whose name is said to be "McNair" but the Sergeant, Price apprehended him at Erie while Trooper Hughmanick and Bernard Rocks were in Kentucky to return Zalick to this city.

Another Suspect

While in Newport they instituted a search for "Lester McNeil" believed by State Police to have been connected with the Rausch-Zalick gang. He was located in a house at Bellevue and apprehended. It is said he has agreed to return here without extradition papers and that Bernard Rocks, assistant to the county detective is enroute to Kentucky to return him here.

McNeil's capture was not without excitement. It is reported that the house was surrounded and a squad of police with riot guns backed up the men who went to front and rear doors. Rocks, Hughmanick and another officer went to the front door and a second squad of several officers went to the rear door.

It is said that McNeil suddenly appeared, leaped through the rear door, seized one of the Kentucky officer's pistols and ran through the rear yard toward the river. Kentucky officers with the riot guns cornered him. He threw up his hands.

Zalick was taken to Butler barracks today for questioning. It is believed that all of the members of the gang are now in custody. The wives and several sons of Walter Rausch are held in jail here as is Mrs. George Zalick, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rausch who is the wife of Zalick who was returned here last night.

No Demonstrations

(International News Service)

PARIS, Nov. 11.—A traditional ceremony—that of Armistice Day—was observed throughout France today with a new twist, not unrelated to the present European situation and the oft-expressed fears of war.

The government took special precautions that there should be no demonstration of a purely military nature, and throughout France special tribute was paid to the late Aristide Briand, France's war-time premier, as "the prince of peace."

The usual grand parade of war veterans from Napoleon's tomb to the grave of the unknown soldier under the Arc de Triomphe was held, the disbanded regiments displaying their battle flags.

"Where Will New Court House Be Built?" Is Asked

Present Site And Some Other One Are Propositions Being Discussed

COUNTY IN NEED OF MORE GROUND

With plans for a new court house being prepared citizens are asking where it is to be built. County commissioners say that they have not arrived at any conclusion.

They are confronted with two propositions, one to build the new court house on the present site, and the other to secure a new location. If it should be decided to build the court house on the present site, it is probable that an effort will be made to secure additional ground from the Boyles property, lying immediately south of the county property.

If this property was secured, it would enable the county to build a new court house, jail and sheriff's office, and still have plenty of ground left. A part of this could be utilized for parking purposes, and the other beautified for a lawn.

The parking problem has been a serious one for some time. Court street is narrow and when courts are in session, parking is allowed on only one side. Parking usually extends around on Milton street and occasionally up to Walnut street.

Should it be decided to erect a new court house on the present site it would be necessary to raze the present building. Accommodations for officials would have to be secured in downtown office buildings while the work would be in progress, which would probably be the better part of a year.

If it should be decided to build the new court house on some other location, the question of an available site would arise. Any property that might be secured would probably mean the razing of a number of buildings, as there would be no site within the territory desired that would be large enough and vacant.

The only large vacant site near the business district is that of the Carnegie Steel company, where the Rosena furnace used to stand. It is likely that there would be opposition to building a court house so near the industrial district.

The problem of a site is one that will have to be settled at no distant date, if the project is to materialize.

PRESIDENT TAKES PART IN CEREMONY AT SOLDIER'S TOMB

er Edward A. Hayes bluntly rebuked the administration for veteran compensation cuts, condemned Russian recognition, and appealed for a sound dollar.

Looking out over the World war shrouded nothing was too good for the veteran disabled in line of duty or for his dependents. He asked immediate restoration of cuts and adequate hospitalization for veterans.

Strange Tenets

Negotiations going forward between President Roosevelt and Commissar Maxim Litvinov of Russia, Hayes referred to as "recognition by the United States of strange tenets."

He warned the nation to beware of "bizarre associations."

Touching on the monetary situation, the legion commander asked the administration to "study carefully the dangers of inflation."

The legion chief declared that it was "all very well to honor the dead, but that the only way to keep faith with them lay in helping the living."

"The unknown soldier, could he speak, would disapprove the cuts," he declared.

"We say he would not approve," Hayes shouted in ringing tones. "We say that this compensation should never have been reduced in any way. We declare that the veteran disabled in line of duty must be restored to his status as it existed prior to March 20, 1933."

Taking up the Russian question, Hayes said the unknown soldier would understand the legion's attitude.

burg, with a springing from various other sections. It included the bugle and drum corps of Franklin, Slippery Rock, Sharpsburg and the local V. F. W. post.

The fourth division headed by the George Washington high school band, contained the floats.

Snow began falling just as the parade got under way at 11:01, there being a brief pause at 11 o'clock, while taps was sounded in memory of those who lost their lives in the World War. It also commemorated the Armistice hour. By the time the parade was well under way the snowstorm increased in intensity.

There were probably 2,000 in the line of march, the parade being approximately a half mile in length.

Had weather conditions been more favorable, there would undoubtedly have been many more present for the occasion.

At the conclusion of the parade the veterans were given their lunch by the local committee, after which they went to Taggart field, where the bugle and drum corps contests were gotten under way shortly after one o'clock, as a prelude to the football game between New Castle and Butler high schools.

Only a few of the boys were in complete uniform, increasing waist lines preventing many of the veterans from getting into the old olive drab, while the moths had played their part in putting others out of commission, but most of the men had some identifying portion of a uniform on.

Program For Shannon

General Edward C. Shannon, Commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard, who is the distinguished guest of the day, arrives at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The program for his reception calls for the escort to bring him to Taggart Field, where the game between New Castle and Butler, is being played. A 19-gun salute will be accorded the General as he marches into the stadium, where a special section of seats has been arranged for the General and his party.

As he is escorted into the stadium by the band, a 19-gun salute will boom out over the field, which will be fired by the Headquarters Battery of the 107th Field Artillery, from Ellwood City.

Following the football game, he will be escorted to The Castleton, by members of Troop F, the parade from the field passing over Cunningham avenue to Taylor street, down Taylor to Mill and thence to the hotel.

Arriving at the hotel, a reception for former members of the 28th Division, A. E. F. in which General Shannon commanded the 5th Infantry Brigade, will be held.

Evening Program

The annual Armistice Day dinner of the local World War veterans will follow at 5:30 in The Castleton, when 200 veterans from this city and the surrounding districts will honor General Shannon.

At 8 o'clock, the formal program of the evening will be carried out in the Cathedral, to which the public is invited. The program will include the introduction of distinguished guests, the address of General Shannon, presentation of the winning bugle and drum corps, and several musical numbers. It will be a brief program but will be appropriate to the occasion.

Following the program in the Cathedral auditorium, a military ball will be held in the ball room of the Cathedral, to which the public is invited. Admission will be free to veterans only.

Havana Troops Mop Up Snipers

By RICHARD ARMSTRONG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Nov. 11.—Pedestrians hurried to safety in downtown Havana today when troops launched a campaign to mop up snipers hidden on roof-tops.

The soldiers fired almost at random, taking the roofs with rifle-fire. Troops took charge of all police stations and mounted machine-guns at the entrances.

Meanwhile, the court-martial of 1,500 alleged rebels taken prisoner with collapse of the latest revolt against President Ramon Grau San Martin's regime was adjourned until next week.

Soldiers in the ranks violently opposed the government's campaign to execute the ring-leaders summarily, fearing similar treatment may be accorded them if another uprising turns the tables in the future.

Business houses remained open but relatively few persons remained aboard after the military started firing on the snipers.

ARMISTICE DAY

ARMISTICE DAY brings its reflections, some happy, many otherwise. So modest, so reticent is the average service man that it is sometimes difficult to ascertain his precise feelings as he looks upon that historic moment in which Armistice Day was born 15 years ago.

But it is not so difficult to ascertain the thoughts of others. And one of them is that there are in America today hundreds of thousands of young men, married, holding responsible jobs, finished with their schooling, who were too young to be in service when the armistice ended the World War. The World war, to them, is a distant memory. Even to the rest of us, who were older then and knew something about it, it seems far away, blurred by time.

Yet, in the bramble-grown gullies and ravines of the Meuse-Argonne region, in the over-grown dugouts and machine gun nests of Belleau Wood, and in the tangled region about Chateau Thierry, there are still lying, undiscovered, the bodies of more than 1300 American soldiers who were killed in action.

This is something in the nature of a reminder for all of us. We tend to put unpleasant experiences out of mind. Whether we gained or lost by them—whether they were closed episodes or left us with new problems to solve—we resolutely go to work to forget them. We tell ourselves, "Well, anyhow, it's OVER."

We have been doing that with the World war. It is not only the pain and suffering of the war that we put behind us. We put behind us, also, the vast hopes and high ideals with which we entered the war. We were keyed up, then, to a higher point than we have been able to reach since. We were ready for sacrifices. We had our eyes on an ideal.

And today? Well, we don't like to think about those things. We know that we have somehow missed the ideals and the hopes. We have come down to earth again, and it is uncomfortable to remind ourselves of it. So we try to forget.

But—there are still 1300 unidentified bodies of our soldier dead lying where they fell, on the battlefields that our ideals and our hopes brought into being. And they will not let us forget.

Those 1300 boys, who have lain for 15 years in snow and rain with bits of lead and steel in the dust of their hearts, died for something. They had a dim, possibly confused notion that the world would somehow be a better place because they died. They surrendered themselves to a force that moved the hearts of their country. They paid with their lives for a belief that a new day could be made to dawn on earth.

The rest of us were spared. We lived on, to taste the joys and ecstasies and victories of daily life that those lads missed forever. We were permitted to go on with our work and our play as before.

But with this privilege went a responsibility. To see to it that these heroic dead shall not have died in vain is our greatest task. Somewhere between 1918 and 1933 we have lost the great vision that sustained these young men on their last march. Nothing—not a thing that you can imagine—is more important than that we regain that vision and act on it.

TREATY DENOUNCED

In giving notice of the termination of its extradition treaty with Greece, the United States has sound reasons for its action. Refusal of the Greek courts to order extradition of Samuel Insull, it charges, was "a clear violation of the American-Hellenic treaty of extradition." Greek authorities "attempted actually to try the case instead of confining themselves to ascertaining whether the evidence submitted by the United States government was sufficient to justify the fugitive's apprehension and commitment for trial."

There could be no corresponding value to the United States in continuing to be a party to a treaty so flagrantly violated by the other contracting party. The guilt of Insull was not involved, except indirectly. It was not for the Greek authorities to determine his guilt. The sole question before them was if the evidence presented was sufficient to raise the question of his guilt. Most persons who followed the proceedings must feel convinced that this was done.

But the fugitive power magnate was able to hire lawyers who confused the issue or otherwise swayed the court in favor of the American. Thus proving that justice in Greece may, in some cases, be on a par with that which occasionally crops out in the United States.

KENTUCKY'S PLIGHT

Kentucky has appealed to the Federal government to take over all relief work in that state because of its inability to raise any more funds for this purpose.

The request, made by Governor Laffoon, which has been complied with, means that Kentucky will join Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana, South Carolina and Arkansas.

Few will believe that Kentucky is so poor in resources that it can not take care of its own needy with federal assistance on the basis of $1 of federal funds for each $3 supplied by the state.

Politics, according to apparently reliable reports, is responsible for conditions which have forced the state into a situation which must cause chagrin to all Kentuckians. Harper Gatton, just resigned as state relief administrator and a close friend of the governor, had been charged with using his position to build up a political machine. His resignation is said to have been caused by pressure from Washington authorities following an investigation of conditions in Kentucky.

The situation emphasizes the danger of attempting to mix politics with relief work, a temptation too strong for many politicians to resist.

Just because you didn't vote doesn't disqualify you from kicking.

All Of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

AS A BABY SMILES
I WISH THIS baby could always be so happy. I wish he could be like this all the days of his life.

It takes so little now to make him smile. The play of sunshine across a room. The pattern of a dress. His own hand. The flickering fire. A human face smiling down at him. Warm milk in his little stomach. Clean, dry clothes. The lukewarm water of his bath. His reflection in a mirror. A familiar voice. All things we older folk accept as our due, as the commonplace material of existence, have power to make this tender thing smile. His mouth crinkles. His eyes dance. The dimples emerge from his cheeks. His arms wave. His little legs work like pistons. He smiles all over, makes soft sounds, and laughs. All of him is happy in an instant, and those who love him melt before his natural joy.

They feel themselves wishing he could always be as young as this. But they know that, in their hearts, they wish no such thing. Because the pleasure of a baby is in his becoming, in the intimacies he gives forth of what he will, some day, be. If he did not change, remained always a baby, he would be a monstrosity and a sadness to all that know him.

And yet it should be possible for a human being to keep such delight in all things. To smile as easily, to be as joyous, as naturally happy. This child, to be sure, knows nothing of sorrow. He knows discomfort that is relieved instantly by older people, and he quickly forgets. But into his life has come none of the griefs, anxieties and disappointments that persuade his elders life is a desperate adventure and a man must be ever on his guard against fate and tragedy. It is easy for him to be happy and to smile.

But we others, if we were truly happy, could be like that, too.

We should find joy in little things, despite the deeper griefs. We should be able to bite into the crisp and juicy apple of life and enjoy it to the full.

Because a shadow falls across our lives, we should not enjoy sunshine the less.

Because the pleasures of life have become familiar, they should not lose their delight for us.

We should be, as much as possible, like that small baby smiling up at us from his dressing table. As our inability to smile as a child does is the measure of our failure as grown-up human beings. Because every laugh is a shout of triumph and every frown is a confession of defeat.

Farmer Giles sniffed.

"Don't tell me such a yarn, young man," he replied.

"Eh? What?" exclaimed the assistant, momentarily taken off his guard.

"Ye might gie me my money back," said the farmer, "but taint human nature to be cheerful about it."

Decade Of Turkish Freedom
Reveals Leader's Strength

Mustapha Kemal Pasha Rated As One Of Great Men Of Present Century Accomplished Amazing Change Under Great Handicaps

Celebration by Turkey of its tenth anniversary since the overthrow of the old despotism is impressive to this country, because of the amazing accomplishments of Mustapha Kemal Pasha in a few years. The creation of a modern nation in place of the medieval regime that once caused Turkey to be despised by the world is lauded with enthusiasm, while the social changes brought about by the leader are described as remarkable.

"The celebration brings to world attention," says the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, "a story more romantic and magical than any told in the Arabian Nights. Haroun Al Raschid was a mighty and pious monarch, but he accomplished nothing in his days of splendor in Baghdad which compares with the magnificent achievements of Mustapha Kemal Pasha. While the world is amazed by the work of Mussolini in Italy and Stalin in Russia, and wonders fearfully what will come of Hitlerism in Germany, this same Mustapha, in building a new Turkey, has overcome obstacles far more difficult than ill duce ever faced."

"The World-Herald points out that 'the tremendous job was to give the man and woman of the common people, self-respect' in doing which 'he had to attack customs made sacred by centuries of tradition.' The Nebraska paper holds that 'he ranks as one of the great men of this or any other day' that 'he has shown what can be done under terrific odds, making of Turkey 'a self-respecting nation and one respected by other nations.'"

"Few observers gave Kemal Pasha more than a few months when he took over the task of reforming Turkey," recalls the ABILENE REPORTER, with the assertion that "he succeeded not only in sticking to the job, but in accomplishing an amazing array of reforms to justify his stewardship." The LOWELL EVENING LEADER states that "in many respects Turkey today is a modern state, and that is an achievement within the short space of ten years."

"One hears less of the dictatorship in Turkey than of those in Italy and Germany," says the DAY TON DAILY NEWS, "not because its achievements are inconsequential, but because there seems to be less of the oppression which has revealed the others in an ugly light. The docility of the supposedly fiery Turks in following the leader may have made high-handed methods like those of Mussolini and Hitler unnecessary. The world has heard few tales of political persecution and exile out of Turkey. When Kemal came into power, illiteracy estimates of Turkey's 13,000,000 people ran as high as 90 per cent. It was perhaps easier to impose a dictatorship on such a people than on Italians and Germans with high cultural accomplishments. But to Kemal's credit, he is doing everything possible to raise Turkish intellectual standards."

"Kemal stands out," in the opinion of the BUTTE MONTANA STANDARD, "as a mold of national destinies and of national development of a most constructive order." The Standard finds it significant that "he has steered his countrymen through a worldwide economic crisis without borrowing money, unbalancing their budget, or whining about their debts." Declaring that the Turks acclaim him as "the savior of their country and the father of their republic," the Butte paper avers that "he governs a proud, stoical and peaceful people—mostly home-loving, hospitable peasants."

"The American people," suggests the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "have a special interest in the progress of Mustapha Kemal's new Turkey, because he is drawing liberally upon the United States for brain power in the reconstruction of the republic. From this country the 'Ghazi' has drafted experts in the fields of transportation, finance, economics, agriculture, metallurgy and primary education. They are playing a major part in the regeneration of Turkey and in the realization of its destiny."

KEEP FIGHTING

Have you allowed a general weakness in character to control you to the extent that you have little strength to overcome certain tendencies?

Have you reached the stage where it is easier for you to accept what others force upon you than to make a fight for your rights?

Why submit to so many impositions?

What has become of your independence?

There was a time when you insisted upon receiving the degree of respect to which you were entitled.

You need more fighting spirit.

What has caused this decline in the proper spirit?

Why lose confidence in yourself?

Perhaps the uncertainty of the past two or three years has robbed you of your courage.

The industrial situation has had a dampening effect on independence.

But nothing should rob you of your self-esteem to the point where you will not defend yourself even when you know that you are right.

Brace up, brother. Many others in the same boat. Get out of it.

You may be down but you are not out, till you admit it yourself.

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD (Copyright, 1933) Central Press

SATURDAY, NOV. 11

Reading The Skies—This is an anniversary of sighting, in 1572, of most brilliant nova or "new star" of record. "New stars" are a misnomer; they are small old orbs that flare up in a sudden brilliancy and die down again, possibly due to a collision with another star which explodes pent-up forces. This nova was brighter than Jupiter or Venus, glowed so dazzlingly that it could be seen in broad daylight. Gradually it faded, disappeared.

Notables Born This Date—Thomas Bailey Aldrich, b. 1836, American poet and editor. Samuel Insull, b. 1859, expatriate electrical magnate. Joseph McCabe, b. 1867, author and lecturer. Once a priest (rector of Buckenham College, England) he is now married, has 2 children. Mrs. C. Rohlf, known as Anna Katherine Green, b. 1846, detective story writer: The Leavenworth Case; The Step on the Stair, etc. Victor Emmanuel, b. 1869, king of Italy. Frederick A. Stock, b. 1872, symphony orchestra conductor. Maude Kiskadden, known as Maude Adams, b. 1872, actress and inventor. David I. Walsh, b. 1872, U. S. senator from Massachusetts. Marie Baekirtself, b. 1860, artist and diarist of enduring reputation. Clarence D. Chamberlin, b. 1893, transatlantic aviator. Walter D. Hackette, b. 1876, playwright: It Pays to Advertise; Capt. Applejack, etc.

1889—Washington, 42nd state, admitted. Motto: By and by. Flower: Rhododendron (same as W. Va.).

1912—The World War ended; but the U. S. government has expended more money on the war since the Armistice than before! (For fulfillment and settlement of contracts bringing home and demobilizing the A. E. F. payments of pensions and expenditures for care of veterans reduction of loans to Allies, etc.)

1912—One of the Four Million became The One. The Unknown Soldier, one of the 4,057,101 troops (more than half of which were drafted) engaged in the U. S. Army in the World War, was enshrined at Arlington, Va.

1900—Florida, famed for its sextette of beauties and its Tell Me Pretty Maiden air, opened, in New York.

1915—The U. S. established a protectorate over Haiti by treaty. Approximately 1,000 Marines have been maintained there since, at a total expense of $25,000,000 for which there has been no return.

1921—President Harding opened the world conference on limitation of armaments in Washington, and prepared to forfeit U. S. naval power.

Temple Israel Honors Visitor

Dinner Party Is Assembly Room Given In Honor Of Rabbi Saul B. Applebaum

As a courtesy to Rabbi Saul B. Applebaum of Temple Beth Zion, Bradford, who was visiting rabbi at the Temple Israel Friday evening, the members of the Temple Sisterhood entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner in the assembly room.

The members of team four, Mrs. Jack Kulkin, chairman, prepared the menu and were assisted in serving by team five. The tables were beautifully appointed, with flowers and tapers in Dresden shades being used in the centerpieces.

At 8 o'clock the congregation assembled in the auditorium to hear Rabbi Applebaum deliver a most excellent discourse on "The Attempt to Foreclose the Trend of Jewish Lives in America." He explained the historical factors upon which life today is based and gave much valuable information to his hearers.

Mrs. W. L. Cook presided at the organ for the musical numbers and Miss Ruth Drescher, well known soprano of the city, sang "Love Ye the Lord" and Michael Caruso had a violin number, "Serenade Melacolic."

The pulpit of the church was adorned with many flowers presented by the Temple Sisterhood in honor of the guest.

Rabbi Applebaum's visit was in behalf of the Union of American Hebrew congregations. He was a classmate of Rabbi A. J. Grossfield in Hebrew Union college of Cincinnati, O.

School Board To Hold Special Meet
To Hear Report Of Supt. DeLong And Architect McCandless On Federal Loan

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Superintendent of Schools, Vaughn R. DeLong, and Architect, B. J. McCandless, of this city, returned late last night from Harrisburg, where they conferred with state officials on the construction of a new wing to the Lincoln high school with funds borrowed from the federal government.

The plans of the proposed improvement were presented before the Department of Public Instruction. A special meeting will be held by the local board of education to hear Mr. DeLong's and Mr. McCandless' report of this conference. If the plans are approved by the department of public instruction, they will be sent to the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works. The local board is optimistic over this conference and feel that the plans have been accepted.

At a meeting last Thursday the board referred bids for stokers for the Hartman school, to the building committee and architect for a recommendation at the next meeting. Exonerations lists of former Tax Collector T. A. E. McConahy and E. B. Moyer were returned for further collection by an action of the board. A leave of absence was granted to L. Ueber, principal of the Hartman school, and Miss Virginia Fike.

It was announced that the athletic department has paid off its loan of $1,000 from the school board. Secretary Hancher stated that enough has been realized from football to carry basketball if necessary.

Mrs. O. E. Wick Entertains Club
ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Mrs. O. E. Wick entertained the A. M. L. club at her home on Spring avenue last night. D. G. Williams and Mrs. William McGinley were special guests.

Bridge at two tables was in play during the evening. Mrs. J. G. Ferguson and Mrs. McGinley received the awards at the close.

A luncheon was served at a later hour by the hostess. Mrs. Ferd Zeigler will entertain the club on November 24.

FUNERAL RITES
ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Rev. D. N. Thomas, pastor of the local Free Methodist church has returned from Union City, where he and his family attended funeral services held for Timothy P. Thomas, aged 77, father of the local minister. The deceased was a frequent guest at the home of his son here and has many friends in this city.

The services were held in the Free Methodist church of Union City by the pastor Rev. F. S. Perkins and were largely attended.

Besides his wife, four daughters and five sons survive: Mrs. Belle Stanton, Mrs. Nellie James, Mrs. Luella Vanep all of Union City, Mrs. Stella Graves of Pleasantville, Ralph, Raymond, Dean and Leon all of Union City, and Rev. David Thomas of this city. One brother, Alfred Thomas of Union City also survives and a number of grand and great-grandchildren.

Interment was made in the Union City cemetery.

B. Y. F. Club Has Meeting Friday

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Fred Jackson entertained the B. Y. F. club at her home on the country club road last night. Mrs. J. A. Reeder of New Brighton was a special guest.

Two tables of bridge occupied the attention of those present for the greater portion of the evening, at the close of which Mrs. George Rapp and Mrs. Reeder received the high score awards.

A delectable luncheon was served at a later hour by the hostess with the assistance of her daughter Lucille. Mrs. Walter Jackson will entertain the club in two weeks at her home on the country club road.

Ellwood Boxers Taper Off For Tuesday Bouts
Another High Class Amateur Card To Be Given At Shelby Auditorium

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—In two more days lovers of the amateur pugilistic game of this district will be given another opportunity to see a high class boxing card at the Shelby auditorium. Local boxers are concluding training for the matches which are to take place Tuesday night at 8:15.

Matchmaker Joseph Latiano has spared nothing in arranging the best talent for this show. There will be a high class of amateur boxing. In four of the eight bouts champions will be opposing champions. Each of these will be in a different weight division.

The card is headlined by a return match between Custie Morini, western Pennsylvania lightweight champion, and "Tiger" Ray Atkinson, Beaver Valley champion. Both are local boys. The former won a close decision over Atkinson at New Castle last night. Since then Atkinson has been clamoring for a return match.

In another bout Joey Evans of Ellport, Western Pennsylvania featherweight champ will meet Harold Richardson, Allegheny Valley champ. Keith Goodballet, Ohio champ, will meet another good opponent.

The remainder of the card is as follows: Tony Adamo vs. John Anderson, Charles Arkett vs. Ray Eberle, Walter Burns vs. Frank Rachtig and Jimmie Pasta vs. Jack Trotter.

Cast Of Elks' Play Repeats Success
Larger Audience Enjoys Second Showing Of "Spanish Moon" Here Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Adding to their fame of the previous night, nearly 150 local people were delighted at the second production of "Spanish Moon," the Elks' charity play, at Lincoln Auditorium last night. A much larger audience was present at this showing.

Judging from the response of the audience to the many feature numbers and play in general, it was a huge success. Lodge officials reported a decided financial success, so that many Christmas baskets for the poor will be filled.

Implicated deep into the plot of the production was Mrs. Vera Reasman, who with her charm, dancing, singing, and dramatic ability, easily won the audience over to her. Coupled with Miss Sue Cox, Mrs. Reasman had one of the leading feminine roles. Mrs. Reasman and Miss Cox displayed real talent. This pair with Orville Cox and Frank Fitzgerald supplied the romance. Mr. Cox and Mr. Fitzgerald had the leading male roles which they portrayed with unusual ability.

Following the show the entire cast were the guests of the Elks' at a special party in their lodge rooms. Games and dancing occupied the attention of those present. Lunch and refreshments were served throughout the evening.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

State Department Advertises For Bids In Paving

Repaving Of Fountain Avenue In Ellwood City To Be Done As Soon As Possible

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Part of the Borough of Ellwood City's plan for improvements was actually started yesterday when the Pennsylvania department of Highways advertised for bids for the repaving of Fountain avenue.

Since the Harmony Line rails have been torn up and the state route to Pittsburgh has been rerouted this way, the state department has agreed to take over the street and maintain it.

The advertisement states that Lawrence County contractors will be given preference. Also the materials for the improvements are to be from the county. Labor is to be provided by Ellwood City.

The work calls for the construction of 2,790 linear feet of reinforced concrete pavement, 20 feet wide, and re-laid brick each side of concrete, 5 feet of re-laid brick, 30 feet wide, 51 linear feet of reinforced concrete gutters, variable width, and 14 linear feet of drainage. The distance of improvement will be from Fifth street to the edge of the Wurtemburg highway.

Man Believed Victim Of Hit-Run Driver

A. T. Layton In Local Hospital Suffering With Several Injuries

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Lieut. E. R. Hartman of the local police force is conducting an investigation into the mysterious accident of A. T. Layton last night. The man is in the local hospital suffering with bruises and abrasions received in an unexplained accident.

About 6:30 last evening Chester E. Lynn and son Raymond of Park avenue, this city, while traveling south on Fourth street. Before them to the side a little was the body of a man lying in the street, just across from Abbatochio's store.

The two men notified Lieut. Hartman, who investigated the incident and had the man removed to the local hospital. Lieut. Hartman stated that he believes that the man, whose name was found to be Layton, was the victim of a hit-and-run driver. Layton was residing at a local hotel.

His injuries were found to be of a minor nature, and is reported to be resting comfortably today.

CLASS MEETING
ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Miss Stella Tancunuk proved to be a charming hostess last evening when she opened her home near River-view to members of the Sunshine and Young Men's Bible classes of the North Sewickley Presbyterian church who gathered for a combined meeting. There were seventeen in attendance.

Members of the Sunshine Class planned to organize a sewing circle. The first meeting will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 18 at the home of Mrs. Thos. Baird of North Sewickley.

A tempting luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Miss Ann Tackas, as the concluding feature. Miss Ann Tackas invited the classes to meet at her home for the next meeting on Thursday evening, December 7.

Companion Of Hunter Killed
(International News Service)
INDIANA, Pa., Nov. 11.—Reputing his previous story that he knew nothing of the whereabouts of the companion with whom he was being yesterday, Mike Elko, 16, of Dixonville, admitted to Indiana county district attorney at noon today that he had accidentally shot and killed Florio Kluchorsky, 17, also of Dixonville.

The body of the victim was found late last night in a field not far from here by searchers who started out after the youth failed to return home. He had been struck in the back by a shotgun charge.

Meanwhile, another searching party under the leadership of Elko was being directed away from the scene of the accident, the boy confessing today he became panic-stricken and deliberately let his party in another direction.

Soviet Recognition Points Are Submitted To Dictator Stalin

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Quick American recognition of Soviet Russia today rested in the hands of Joseph Stalin, the Soviet dictator.

A reply to a report cabled Moscow concerning the conversations with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull was awaited by Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet foreign commissar.

On the nature of this reply depended the question of whether American recognition would be extended the Soviet regime before next Wednesday, when Litvinoff hopes to sail for home.

Points Involved
The report cabled Moscow by Litvinoff did not contain the draft of an understanding for recognition. On the contrary, it contained points on which this government insists the basis for an understanding on recognition must be based.

Indications were that Litvinoff was asking for instructions concerning some of these points. It Stalin authorizes Litvinoff to concede the American viewpoint, an understanding on recognition probably will be reached before Wednesday. Otherwise, it may take longer to reach compromise.

Although officials maintained silence concerning the points on which Litvinoff cabled for instructions, it was believed they were related to the debt question. This issue was used by authoritative sources to explain the fact that the discussions are not progressing quite as rapidly as was anticipated. It was pointed out that the memorandum on the $187,000,000 Kerensky debt alone covered 109 pages.

Continues Conversations
Receipt in Moscow of Litvinoff's cable for instructions was believed to be responsible for the reports there that he had submitted the terms of an understanding for recognition. These reports were described at the White House as premature.

While awaiting a reply from Moscow, Litvinoff continued his conversations with American officials. He conferred with President Roosevelt at the White House last night. At the conclusion of the meeting, which was described as a "friendly chat," it was said progress had been made on the questions discussed. It was the second meeting Litvinoff had with the president yesterday.

The Soviet statesman was expected to resume his conversations at the state department today. With Secretary of State Hull's departure for the Pan-American conference at Montevideo, the discussions will be handled by acting secretary of state Phillips.

state which is paying attention to its own business and making it pay." LEADERS CONFEE ON SESSION PLANS

Governor Suggests Two Methods Of Raising New Revenue For State

By G. EVERETT DOYING
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—Informed by Gov. Gifford Pinchot that he wants all hard liquor sold by state stores and only for non-consumption on the premises, legislative leaders turned today to a round of week-end conferences for some line of procedure at the special session of the General Assembly convening Monday.

Liquor control and other subjects included in the call were to be discussed again Sunday by the governor and a group of conferees consisting of political and legislative leaders and administration officers. Party leaders in the house and senate also will air their views on the program before them at various meetings.

13-Point Call

The 13-point call, involving nearly two score subjects, created a wave of speculation throughout political circles. Unless some compromise is reached and adhered to by interested factions, renowned for their differences in past sessions, few believe the desire for a "short and inexpensive" session will be realized.

Many of the issues are of a controversial nature and "left-overs" from the regular session last winter. Others bear the tinge of politics which Governor Pinchot and Edward Martin, Republican state chairman, previously asserted should be taboo in regard to social legislation, liquor control, relief, public construction, and educational matters.

Two Tax Methods

To raise money for at least a dozen purposes, the governor suggested only two means—liquor taxation and an income tax.

In addition, he urged legislation to give statutory effect to 11 constitutional amendments approved by voters last Tuesday. This item was seemingly to set up machinery for payment of a soldier's bonus. Although money for the bonus can be obtained by issuing $500,000,000 in bonds, the governor suggested no means of raising revenue to carry interest and sinking fund charges.

The proposed income tax for relief of schools and transfer of 53,000 miles of second class township roads to the highway system to lighten the burden on local taxpayers.

He desires that receipts of state liquor stores, if established, be used for unemployment relief, old age assistance, and unemployment insurance. Revenues from a liquor tax would be applied to a variety of things under his proposals.

The Republican organization is reported to be opposed to the state dispensary system. They prefer issuance of licenses to individuals but, like the governor, will not tolerate a return of the saloon.

The scope of the subjects included in the call are so broad that consideration of all points would be virtually equivalent to a regular session of the general assembly.

Farm Strikers Given Setback

Governor George Berry Of South Dakota And Governor Herring Of Iowa,
Are Active

NO EMBARGO ON FARM PRODUCTS

(International News Service)
DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 11.—

Farm strikers, discouraged by a growing wave of internal opposition, received further setbacks in their plans today from Gov. George Berry of South Dakota and Gov. Clyde Herring of Iowa.

Violence flared briefly in Minnesota and Wisconsin, meanwhile, Gov. Berry, after due deliberation, decided that he will declare no embargo on shipments of farm products out of South Dakota. Farm holiday organizations had requested the ban on out-state shipments.

In a statement issued here Gov. Herring declared he was now convinced that not more than two percent of Iowa farmers are in favor of the strike called by the National Farmers' Holiday Association. Even a lesser number favor picketing, the governor declared.

Having conferred with governors of other northwest states and listening to the pleas from farmers that no embargo action be taken, Gov. Berry decided the ban would work a hardship on thousands holding marketable products.

The Northwest Iowa sector of the farm strike was entirely quiet today, and picketing was at a virtual standstill due to overwhelming opposition from within the farmers' ranks. Law and order leagues have been formed by the farmers to clear the highways of pickets.

Shenango-Union Play Tie 7 To 7

Morrison Plunges Over For Union Touchdown In Second Period

Hordig Takes Pass From Arnold For Shenango Touchdown In Fourth Period

On a carpet of snow at Taggart Field Friday afternoon two finely coached and well trained Class A County schoolboy teams Union and Shenango High fought a 7-7 dead-end battle. The game will go down as one of the best played between the two teams for quite some time. The day was biting cold, but the players didn't mind the snow and ice as they fought evenly up and down the length of the beautiful football arena. Union scored in the second period when Paul Morrison slipped over from the 1-yard line. Shenango waited until the fourth and final period before Hordig took a pass from Regis Arnold and scored. Both sides made the extra-point.

The first period of the game was pretty evenly fought. Morrison supplied the longest run of the period midway of the quarter when he slipped through from the Union 45-yard line to the Shenango 40-yard line. He ran about 20 yards. Shenango finally took the ball on downs on their own 30-yard line after a valiant stand. Shenango tried two plays with Arnold the big ground gainer and he made nine yards giving Shenango the ball on their own 39-yard line as the first period ended.

Morrison Scores
Arnold punted to Union on the Union 48-yard line and right here the Boyden started a grand parade to the goal line by steady hard driving for one first down after another with Morrison, Morrison and Todd doing the brunt of the ball carrying. Morrison made a first down on the Shenango 39-yard line. Morrison made a first down on the 29-yard line, and Morrison raced to the 19-yard line. Morrison after two plays slipped through to the Shenango five-yard line, for another first down. Schaeff hit center for two yards, and Morrison picked up a yard. Morrison on the next play slashed through tackle for the touchdown. On the try for extra-point Schaeff on a spinner play went over the line.

Following the kickoff Shenango lost the ball on a punt and Union started another march to the goal line, but were stopped by a strong Shenango high line. Shenango had the ball on the Union 45-yard line as the first half ended.

In the third period Shenango High came back with a vengeance and took the ball on a series of plays to the Union 10-yard line where they lost it on downs when the Union linemen stiffened their defense. Regis Arnold was the big star on the Shenango attack. When the period ended Shenango again had the ball on the Union 3-yard line, after taking the ball on an exchange of punts.

Hordig Scores On Pass
At this stage in the game Coach Ed Roney's team opened up with a forward passing attack that had

Union bewildered. Arnold flipped a pass to Mills who replaced Ketzell at halfback, and Mills took the ball to the Union 24 yard line for a first down. Mills passed to Hordig on the Union 10-yard line for another first down. Union could not break up these passes. Arnold was stopped at the line. Shenango was desperate for a score. Arnold drifted back and threw a bullet pass to Hordig standing over the Union goal line and Shenango had scored in the flash of an eye. The complexity of the game changed. It was a beautiful pass by Arnold and well taken by Hordig. On the try for extra-point Regis Arnold playing his final game for Shenango High bucked the center of the Union line and went over for the point that deadlocked the game.

Monico Hits Hard
Both teams snapped into action with the kickoff. The time was fleeting. Both wanted another touchdown. It developed into a court-ship of punts and punts. Shenango took up the burden. Ketzell ran a punt back 10 yards. Arnold was stopped on two plays. Hordig kicked to Union on the Union 35-yard line. Paul Morrison on the first play sped around left end and raced to the Shenango 38-yard line for the prettiest run of the game. It took 20 yards to get to the line. Monico went through again to the Shenango 20-yard line for a first down. Monico went through once more to the Shenango 10-yard line. There was just about a minute and half left to play. Monico made two more yards through the Shenango staunch line, and Union was in position to score with a half-minute left to play.

Rally Is Halted
Union tried for a touchdown on a pass from Monico to White, but the pass was broken up and Union's chance to score was ended, and so was the ball game ended just as the officials took the ball out to the 20-yard line to give it to Shenango. It was a grand finish to a grand battle, and outstanding in the game was the fine playing of Paul Morrison for Union at halfback, easily the best ground gainer of the game, along with Don Monico, who also made considerable yardage for Union. On the Union line the play of Captain Wayne White the sterling right end featured, as well as the playing of Jones, Rudisill and Weimer.

Arnold-Morrison Star
Regis Arnold, playing his last game for Shenango was the big star for the Raneysmen, and did the most consistent ground gaining. Mills and Monico also did some fine work for Shenango. On the Shenango line the playing of Heminger, Shafer, Thompson and McIltrout was the best.

Besides Arnold, Shafer, Heminger and Thompson ended their scholastic careers yesterday afternoon. Union had 10 first downs and Shenango had nine, it was a fairly even battle all the way. Union tried four passes and made two of them good. Shenango passed five times and made four of them good. Union punted four times and Shenango punted four times.

The summary:
Union High—7 Shenango—7
Rowbottom L. E. Heminger
Rudisill L. T. Pitzer
Jones L. G. Shafer
Hughes C. McIltrout
Kirk R. G. Thompson
Weimer R. T. Hordig

New Wilmington High Will Begin Basketball Work

With no football practice to interfere, the 32 champions of the Class A League of Lawrence county from New Wilmington, are free to engage their attention on the basketball season.

Issuing an early call to avail the team all possible chance to develop into shape before Thanksgiving night when the college town boys will open with a tilt against Plain Grove, Coach Whitman has had the last drilling on fundamentals for the past few nights.

Although ineligibility and injuries will hamper the chances for another championship team, the board of strategy consisting of coaches Whitman and Siljander, are optimistic regarding the possible outcome of the season. Mercer, sterling forward of last year's club, will not be in condition to practice for several weeks as he is just recuperating from the effects of a broken leg.

Several of the basketballers are ineligible on account of age and semesters in school, but some of the new material shows much promise.

The girls' team will evolve around such former stars as Byers, Axe, Hoagland and Greer, and should develop into a potential bidder for county honors.

Siljander Will Aid In Coaching Wilmington Hi

Prof. Walt Whitman, head coach of the 1933 New Wilmington basketball club, announces the addition of Mauno Siljander, veteran athlete of Westminster, to the coaching staff for the coming season.

Whitney is one of the few three letter men in school, he having consistently won awards in basketball, football and track. He has been a guard and pivot on the successful Westminster basketball clubs for the past four years.

Siljander is at present engaging in practice teaching at the local high, doing his work in the social studies. He will assist Coach Whitman for approximately two months.

Two Schools May Quit Class AA

Two class AA conference high school football teams will likely be missing when the 1934 season rolls around. The two schools which have signified their intention of quitting at the end of this year are Charleroi and Monessen.

It is also possible that several other members of the class AA conference will ask for class A rating instead of the big league. Norwin and Clairton are said to be contemplating such action.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Onarga high school football team won its 35th consecutive victory yesterday at Onarga, Ill., when it defeated Gilman 89 to 6. The victory gave Onarga its fourth straight Waukegan league high school championship.

Two members of the Erie Strong-Vincet football team were injured yesterday while enroute to North Braddock. A bus carrying the players left the highway and hit a bridge. Joseph Defazio and Sylvester Verarduro were left at the hospital while the team continued on its way. Neither was seriously injured.

University of Pittsburgh cross country team won its annual event with Carnegie Tech yesterday 32 to 23. Giolama, Tech harrier, finished first in 23 minutes 52 seconds. Musico and Albright finished second and third. Pitt's other runners finished fifth, sixth and seventh. Tech's other runners finished fourth, eighth, ninth and tenth.

Mike Kelley, president of Minneapolis baseball club, has released Dave Bancroft as manager. He will be replaced by a playing manager.

Coaches Differ On Grid Rules

Would Allow Players To Run With Fumbled Ball Outside Ten-Yard Zone

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The opinions of the leading football coaches are at a wide variance over the present code additional votes cast in the International News Service poll revealed today.

Few are solidly behind or opposed to the rules which cover the dead ball fumble and running with the ball. Virtually all fourteen polled today ask some revisions or suggest modifications.

One notable exception was A. A. Stagg, College of Pacific coach who said: "I'm not very strong for the rule. It was pushed rather hard on the Atlantic coast some time ago, supposedly for the purpose of encouraging lateral passing to prevent injuries."

Thornhill asks that players be allowed to run with fumbled balls outside of a zone ten yards on either side of the line of scrimmage to stop piling on. "The ball should be 'dead' if fumbled within ten yards of the line, 10 yards either way. But outside of that there is little danger of piling and the fumble should be played as a live ball," he says.

Against a return to the old rules are Clyde Littlefield, University of Texas; Lewis Hardage, Oklahoma U.; Bo McMillan, Kansas State College; William Ingram, U. of California; Harry Hughes, Colorado Agricultural College; Ike Armstrong, Utah U.; Don Lovewell, assistant to Howard Harpster at Carnegie Tech and Jock Sutherland, Pittsburgh.

Sunday Base Ball Plans Discussed

Now that Sunday baseball is legal in New Castle, it is possible that New Castle I. A. A. baseball club will have a team on the field next summer. At a meeting of the board of directors which was held Friday night at Peter Capito's on North street, this matter was discussed.

Ever since election day several outside parties have made offers to lease Centennial field next summer. According to officials the New Castle club will sponsor a team. A meeting of the stock holders of the club has been called for December 1.

Class AA Teams Are In Action

There will be three Class AA conference grid games on tap today in the Pittsburgh district. New Castle has finished their Class AA battles undefeated, having defeated New Kensington last week at New Kensington.

Norwin will be at McKeesport for a game; Monessen will go to Greensburg and may upset the Greensburg team; Charleroi will be at Wilkensburg today for a battle.

Jeannette high will have a non-league team as their opponents today in Youngwood high at the Jeannette field. Clairton also plays a non-league team in Duquesne high.

Local Architects Are Given Contract

Architects Thayer and company of this city have been engaged by the Stoneboro school board to draw plans for an addition to the Stoneboro school building. At the recent election Stoneboro voted favorably on an $18,000 bond issue for the erection of the building. The school board also expects to get help from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Pigskin Puzzler's

Questions asked by Eddie Collins, former Notre Dame star, answered by Frank Carideo, Missouri coach.

QUESTIONS

1—On kickoff player of team D signals for fair catch on his own two-yard line and in order to catch ball has to retreat until at moment he gains possession and control one of his feet is behind his goal line, the ball coming to rest over field of play. Is this a legal, fair catch? Team D claims option of touch-back. Ruling?

2—The ball is passed to a wing-back of team O who drops the ball, the tailback of team D kicking it before it touches the ground. Is this a legal kick?

3—A player is withdrawn during the intermission between third and fourth quarters and is sent back into the game after one play has been run off in the fourth quarter. Is this a legal substitution?

4—Team O punts from behind own goal line and while ball is in the air from the kick a player of team O intentionally strikes an opponent behind the kicking team's goal line. Ruling?

5—At kickoff team O sets the ball for a place kick on the 38-yard line at a spot about 15 yards from a muddy spot. Captain of team D protests that ball must be kicked from the middle of 40-yard line. Ruling?

NOTE: O means offensive; D means defensive.

ANSWERS

1—Fair catch; legal.
2—Legal kick.
3—Legal substitution.
4—Safety and disqualification.
5—Ball can be kicked from 40-yard line or any point behind it.

George Washington Defeats Presidents

George Washington beat Washington & Jefferson 13 to 6 at Washington yesterday.

W. and F. Parrish scored touchdowns for George Washington and Headley scored the President's only touchdown.

Bomba made an extra point following touchdown for George Washington.

George Washington scored in the opening period and Washington & Jefferson in the second quarter.

Officers Nab Man On Liquor Charge

Charged with liquor possession, Andrew Barutes, Hanna street, was remanded to the county jail late Friday for a hearing next Tuesday before Alderman Wallace J. Ewing.

Barutes was arrested yesterday afternoon when Constable Frank C. Conner, Officer Willis McMullen and Mrs. Minnie McKibben, policeman, visited his place. They said 84 gallons of moonshine liquor was seized.

Good Football Games On Tap

Edinboro Teachers Playing Undefeated Slippery Rock Team Today

MUSKINGUM AT NEW WILMINGTON

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Pitt and Duquesne university's city title wrestle at Pittsburgh holds the spotlight today in the tri-state's waning grid season.

The Dukes, one of the nation's few undefeated and untied eleven, and the Panthers with only the Minnesota reverse marring a great record, come to grips before a crowd expected to exceed 30,000.

Enjoying the best season of his seven-year coaching regime at the hilltop institution, Elmer Layden makes no secret of the fact that he has been pointing his "Night Riders" to the Pitt game, and to this end plans to "shoot the works" today.

The remainder of the schedule calls for: Grove city v. Waynesburg; Westminster v. Muskingum; Edinboro v. Slippery Rock; California v. Indiana Teachers; W. Va. Wesleyan v. Dayton; Bethany v. Fairmont.

In last night's two district games, Washington & Jefferson was humbled 13-6, by George Washington U. in a bitterly fought game, and St. Vincent's blanked New River 25-0.

Volant P. T. A. To Meet Wednesday

Plan To Put Four Million Men At Work

Government Will Likely
Spend More Than $400-
000,000 To Give Men
Work To Do

MAY ASK CONGRESS
FOR MORE FUNDS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Federal plans for quick employment of 4,000,000 men may go far beyond the present scope of the $400,000,000 public works allotment, it was revealed as Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator today was decentralizing the huge organization necessary to put the plan in effect. Secretary of Interior Ickes, who made the allotment, said it was "only the first installment," and indicated it might be several times the original amount. President Roosevelt already has forecast a request to congress for more public works funds.

What the effect will be was not predictable, as congressmen continued to storm the offices of the federal relief administration in behalf of their local projects. Fear was evident the new set-up would jeopardize pet plans already pending before Ickes, and which have been nursed along, only to face this new obstacle.

Ickes and Hopkins acted to head off any such situation. Hopkins said he was decentralizing his own agency, so applications would be received first in the state and local branches.

He will confer with Ickes Saturday to decide where the dividing line will be in the two organizations. Ickes' aides emphasized the present arrangement by which the public works funds are allotted, 30 per cent grant and 70 per cent loan, would continue.

Bond Issue Signed
Springfield, Ill., Nov. 11.—Gov. Henry Horne today signed the $30,000,000 bond issue bills, thereby putting into effect immediately the administration's unemployment relief program.

Harmony Couple Wedded 50 Years

HARMONY, Pa., Nov. 11.—The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Shanor of Harmony, well known in this community, was observed on Wednesday and honoring the event, their nieces, Mrs. Harry Courtney, Mrs. Earl Beighley, Mrs. E. S. Beighley and Mrs. Albert Ellis entertained at their home at an informal evening affair. Twenty-four guests were in attendance from Harmony, Ellwood City, Pittsburgh, New Castle and the Beaver valley towns.

During the day Mr. and Mrs. Shanor were recipients of many cards of congratulations from friends and relatives and they were also presented with a large number of beautiful and useful gifts.

What is deservedly suffered must be borne with calmness, but when the pain is unmerited, the grief is resistless.—Ovid.

How to Ruin
a Party—
and a Dress!

Her whole party would be spoiled unless she got her pretty frock back from the cleaners! Just in time it came—but imagine her dismay when she found it reeking of "C O" (unpleasant cleaning odor). Her party was ruined—and so was her dress.

Our modern, marvelous Band Box Dry Cleaning Method would have saved the day, and the dress for her. It insures your wearables not only against "C O," but also against shrinkage, fading, loss of belts, buckles and ornaments. And Band Box enables us to make deliveries the same day if we have your apparel before noon.

And all this extra quality and service at prices that cut your cleaning bills!

Pennsy Purchasing Huge Rail Supply

Road Orders 100,000 Tons As Part Of Federal Buying Program

Collaborating with Hon. Joseph B. Eastman, federal co-ordinator of transportation, in conformity with President Roosevelt's plan to stimulate purchases of steel rails by the railroads of the country, the Pennsylvania railroad today announced that it would purchase 100,000 tons of new rail. This is a year's requirement, and calls for three separate standard weights, as follows: 27,000 tons of 152-pound section; 72,000 tons of 131-pound section; 1,000 tons of 112-pound section.

The 152-pound rail is the heaviest used in the main high-speed running tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad.

All of this rail will be paid for by the railroad company out of current funds.

District Firemen Meet Friday Eve

Storm Prevents Many From
Northern Tier Of Counties
From Attending

In the neighborhood of 100 firemen from the various surrounding counties, comprising the North-western District, of the Pennsylvania Firemen's Association, gathered here last evening for a quarterly business and social meeting.

No business session was held, due to the fact that some of the officers and directors from the northern section of the state were prevented from attending because of the weather. A business meeting has been called by President Frank H. Robinson, to be held in Mercer shortly after Thanksgiving.

A social evening was enjoyed by those who had gathered here, however, the local firemen serving as hosts. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

ELKS READY FOR BUSY WEEK END

Initiation Occurs Tonight, Convention On Sunday—100
Expected

New Castle Elks today made ready to inaugurate tonight a week-end of activities which marks the busiest few days the local lodge, No. 69, has experienced in months.

At the lodge's North Mill street temple this evening a special ceremony, similar to one expected to be held all over the country, will formally induct what the Elks term their "national class." On Sunday the city's lodge will play host to representatives from the 19 lodges that constitute the Northwest District Elks association.

Exalted Ruler Edward J. Ryan, assisted by his able corps of officers, has completed full arrangements for both events.

Today the visiting legionnaires enjoyed the comforts of the Elks home, Ryan said.

Opening at 9:30 o'clock tonight, the lodge session will continue until 10 o'clock, at which hour the initiation of five new members will take place. At 10:30 the lodge will hear Grand Exalted Ruler Walter F. Meir of Seattle, Wash., and other grand lodge officers speak over a national hookup from New York.

The Northwest District group, expected to bring an estimated 100, will convene tomorrow afternoon in the Elks temple at 2 o'clock. Presiding will be John T. Lyons, Sharon, the district president. Discussions will continue throughout the afternoon, with a dinner at 5 o'clock climaxing the day's program. Ladies of the Elks will also attend.

Featuring the district conference will be the memorial service in which tribute will be paid to the departed Elks of the district. The Elks quartet will sing.

Pittsburgh Jury Finds Mrs.
Meta Miller, 51, Is Not Guilty Of Killing
Husband

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Meta Miller was free today—free to resume her task of rearing five fatherless children.

A mixed jury last night acquitted her of a charge that she murdered her husband.

The 51-year-old, toll-worn widow, who scrubbed floors to provide for her brood, had told the jury: "I got the gun before he got the knife."

The judge told them if they believed her story of killing in self-defense they were obliged to acquit her.

They did.

SIX INCHES OF SNOW IN MERCER COUNTY

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 11.—Mercer county is blanketed tonight under six inches of snow, fall of the last two days. The fall is stated to establish a record for early snow.

Six snow plows are working state roads out of the state highway maintenance office here. Men have been at work for two days. Some country roads are reported blocked Rural mail carriers are making their rounds with difficulty. Relief organizations are being called on for increased demands and with coal in chief demand.

Hull Is Sailing To So. America

Secretary Of State Leaves
For Good-Will Tour Of Latin Countries

MONTEVIDEO IS FIRST STOPOFF

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Entrusted by President Roosevelt with the mission of spreading the doctrine of the "good neighbor" among the nations of South America, Secretary of State Hull today departed for the Pan-American conference at Montevideo.

The secretary's trip will include a good-will tour of the principal capitals and seaports of the west coast of South America on his return journey.

Prior to his departure, Hull let it be known that the White House statement concerning the desire of this government to "forego" discussion of currency stabilization and tariff matters at the conference did not close the door to a study of economic problems.

Economic Plans
On the contrary, he announced the American delegation would be prepared to discuss economic plans which might be put into effect within the next year or two.

While, he said, it is difficult just now for any group of countries to work out anything like comprehensive and permanent plans and programs, a real and timely opportunity exists for a full exchange of information with a view to developing methods of cooperation for the future.

Therefore, he added, he was going to the conference with the hope and expectation that a study of the problems would enable the Pan-American nations to prepare a background that would enable them to go forward in a cooperative way during the early future.

SOCIETY TO MEET
The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of St. Luke's A. M. E. Zion church will hold the regular session for the month Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A program has been arranged. Their last meeting was held on Thursday with Mrs. Frances Rankin as hostess.

Plans were completed for a musical tea to take place at the residence of Mrs. Viola Howard.

REVIVAL SERVICES
This evening Rev. William R. Stewart, evangelist, will answer Biblical questions at the 7:30 service in the Bethel A. M. E. church, of which Rev. William McPherson is pastor.

The revival services have been attracting a large crowd each evening.

LAWRENCE MISSION
Sunday school will be held in the Lawrence Mission, 123 Lawrence St. Sunday at 3 p. m. and at 4:30 dinner will be served free and all children will be welcomed at this time.

CLUB TO MEET
Sunshine Kensington Club, members will meet Monday evening at the Elm street Y. W. C. A. Center.

Monday Meet Will Be Open

The church members of the city are invited to attend the New Castle Ministerial meeting Monday morning at 10:30 in the First Presbyterian church, at which time William Rawlins will show interesting pictures of Russia and give a lecture on "Communism in Russia."

U. S. MAN AWAITED
A representative of the United States treasury department, probably out of New York, will come to New Castle on Monday to commence an investigation at the new post office. He will probe certain allegations made recently.

It was understood today that Congressman J. Howard Swick may accompany the treasury man here.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Fredrick Eigen, who came here from Chicago to manage the exclusive Penn Athletic club, died a victim of amoebic dysentery, according to the diagnosis today of Dr. Mitchell P. Warmuth.

Eigen already had contracted the disease when he came here in September from Chicago where he had managed a world's fair restaurant. Dr. Warmuth believes. He became ill in October and died at the National Stomach hospital here last Monday after an operation.

A post mortem was performed by Dr. Warmuth because of the strangeness of the ailment. He sent his diagnosis to Chicago to aid in the treatment of victims suffering from the strange disease there.
